

Regal splendour, made in Italy

A brand that is undisputedly known internationally, Giorgio Piotto says that he has the privilege to number among his employees skilled artisans through whom he can guarantee a personalised and unique product in the highest respect for the 'made in Italy' signature. Luxury, elegance and high quality of design characterise the new collection Giorgio Piotto "Wonders".

The company says that the combination of tradition and innovation has led to aesthetic results combining great emotional impact with high levels of quality. Ancient hand-crafted techniques have embraced the most modern production techniques to create a collection of great prestige.

The furniture in the collection draws curvy lines, and where the wood meets the gold and silver leaf it adds a regal splendour. Suspended atmospheres and decorative styles highlight the evolution of style. Giorgio Piotto says that the grandeur of classical forms, the choice of materials and the sumptuousness of every detail reassure the most discerning customers. "Cherished combinations of leathers and fabrics, with different patterns, texture and colour, communicate with each other, while maintaining constant and unchanged the stylistic and formal values. Graceful shapes ooze a strong and elegantly refined personality."

This success comes from the careful study of the product right from the design stage to the execution – carried out masterfully by the company's 'unparalleled team of designers'.

Living Room

Here Giorgio Piotto has combined merry baroque notes combined with classical motifs to convey 'unique and unrepeatable emotions'. The careful choice of wood materials such as myrtle burl, mahogany and maple (decorated with refined elements such as mother of pearl, onyx and enhanced by precious finishing of gold and silver leaf) are the perfect components for creating a unique and unrepeatable style.

The Studio

This noble setting complemented by clean lines and absolute sophistication produces a blend of elegance and sobriety. Exquisite touches of identity and a careful choice of colours are dominated by light, warm and sober tones for prestigious and high-class ambiances.

Suite

In the bedroom suite, delicate light and colour effects flood the room. The choice of style is characterised by simple, elegant lines with contemporary accents.

As with much in the Giorgio Piotto style, all furnishings are distinguished by consistency and originality, embellished with refined carvings, special finishes and precious fabrics.
